Nansemond County }
State of Virginia, to wit: }

This day, came before me Wm. Summer a justice of the peace for the County aforesaid, Henry Harrison [W748] Esqr: presiding justice for the County of Nansemond, aged 77 years, who, being duly sworn, deposeth and sayeth, that he was well acquainted with Timothy Langston of the aforesaid County and State, who was a soldier in the war of the revolution, that the said Langston enlisted in the continental service for three years and served out the term of enlistment, at the expiration of which term he again entered the army and served to the end of the war.

Given under my hand and seal as a justice of the peace for the county aforesaid, this 14th day of June 1833. Wm. Summer

Affidavit of Henry Harrison of Nansemond County, Virginia. [24 Sep 1833]

The affiant being duly sworn, deposeth and saith, that he is now Seventy-eight years of age, that he lived in the County of Nansemond during the whole period of the revolutionary war; that he was well acquainted with Timothy Langston, and John March [R6900], and Martin Redmon [VAS3837], and William Herren [VAS3835] – and that all four of them enlisted as privates in the Virginia Continental line for three years nearly about the commencement of the revolutionary war, and went from this county, he thinks, to the north and served their time of three years out as he has heard them say – that they came home about 1780 or '81 and again enlisted for during the war; that they then went off to the north and did not return home until after peace had been declared; and that the above named Langston, and March, and Redmon, and Herren were neighbours of the affiant which enables him the more readily to remember, and thus to certify to their services.
