A letter to J. L. Edwards, Pension Commissioner, 9 Feb 1844 requested a new pension certificate for Peggy Logwood for the following reason: "A man by the name of Gray has by some means gotten hold of them and wants the old lady to give him one half of the money to get it, he having already made her pay $250 of the $500 which she drew last year." On 15 Feb 1844 Edwards replied that the pension certificate had been issued to R. H. Gray of Lynchburg as pension agent, and that it was not in his power to issue a new pension certificate or to punish an agent for such conduct.
