To the Executive of Virginia

I would beg to lay before the Executive on behalf of the heirs of sundry soldiers of the revolutionary war depositions to support their claims for land bounty; I would remark that nothing can be more obvious than the difficulty to obtain evidence to support such claims in consequence of the great lapse of time; & the difficulty is increased in the lower country from the fact of the unhealthiness of the climate; as an illustration of the fact I would observe that in the County of Northumberland which I have no doubt furnished as many men for the army as any other county in the state in proportion to its population there are but two soldiers of the revolution alive one of them a free man of colour was a very young man at the time & engaged in the southern Campaign when but few of the troops from Northumberland were.

In relation to Martin Norris [VAS428] I would say it appears from books in the Auditor’s that he was a Sergeant in the Artillery state line I consider it unnecessary to make any remarks as to the evidence as the subject will be fully before the Executive, but Justice as well as respect to the Executive requires that I should inform them that Edward Sorrel one of the deponents is a free man of Colour. it will also be observed that one justice has certified to his respectibility & credibility I have no doubt if it is necessary that I would get the certificates of fifty or more of the most respectable persons of the County as to his good character & credibility. I know of my own knowledge that his character & circumstances place him above suspicion; his deposition I believe was not taken at the instance of the parties interested but came[?] forward of his own accord having served in war with most of the persons mentioned in his deposition.

I would ask that the executive will not reject any case unless when warrants have issued; by suspending the decision the parties may possible be able to obtain further evidence

July 23rd 1831 Respectfully submited by Thomas H Harvey
